

Camping Checklist

There is no proper way to pack your pack, but rather many different variations. There are a myriad to items that you can take ranging from fun to useful to frivolous. This is by no means the be all and end all list, however to those looking for some guidance, this can be used as a good reference point.

If your car camping often the "bring everything" approach can be a good one, but if your canoeing, kayaking or hiking then a more keep it simple (KISS) approach is a better one.
